EXPRESS MEN MAKING PLANS

Arrangements Being Perfected for Handling Immense Traffic During the Holiday.

MR. ROACH IS PROMOTED

Popular Railroad Man Becomes Assistant General Passenger Agent New York Central.

President George W. Stevens, of the Chesapeakop and Ohio Railway, has re-turned to the city after an absence of ten days in a tour of the lines and in attending meetings and conferences of railway officials. He was in his office yesterday, and spent a busy day, dis-posing of accumulated business and receiving visitors.

A number of prominent officials of the Adams and Southern Express Companies were in the city yesterday conferring with the railway officials and local express men with reference to the prospective rush of express matter incident to the Christmas holidays. Among the number were President M. J. O'Brien, of the Southern Express Company: Mark O'Brien, assistant gereral manager, and Mr. William Buckner, superintendent: H. E. Huff, superintendent of the Adams Express Company; O. B. George, an official of the same company, and J. H. Alexander, routengent. Both companies expect a heavy ngent. Both companies expect a heavy holiday business, and are making every holiday business, and are making every practicable preparation for prompt and satisfactory handling of it. The two or three weeks, of which Christmas Day is the storm center, are always hard on the employes of express companies, and with the prosperous condition of the country this year, an unusually fine business is anticipated.

Mr. Milion C. Roach, widely known and popular among traffic men in Richmond, has been made assistant general passener agent of the New York Central lines. His former position of assistant general Eastern passenger agent has been abolished. Mr. V. V. Beard has been promoted to Eastern passenger agent of the same lines.

Several of the rallways are preparing for Thanksgiving Day excursions to this city. The Chesapeake and Ohio management announce several, including one from Charlottesville and intermediate points; another from Gledstone and intervening points on the James River division; another from the Buckingham branch and intervening points, and another from points on the Peninsula division. The Southern Railway will bring a hig crowd of foot-ball enthusiasts from Chapel Hill, including the students of the University of North Carolina, and from Virginia points on its lines; the Seaboard Air Line will operate a special from Raileigh to Richmond, and other lines will probably offer reduced rates. The number of Carolinians who will visit Richmond will exceed that at any previous game, it is expected. game, it is expected.
